

ACADEMIC VACANCY

College of Nursing and Allied Health Professions

- Position: Assistant Professor
- Duties: Instructional teaching in MSN and DNP programs
- Qualifications: Qualifications include a minimum of a doctoral degree
- Salary: Competitive
- The University: The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is a selective-admissions, state-supported university of approximately 16,300 undergraduate and graduate students, located in the heart of Louisiana's Acadian-Creole region between Houston and New Orleans. It offers the doctorate in nine areas and Masters' degrees in 29 disciplines. The department offers a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN), Dietetics, Health Information Management, a Master of Science in Nursing (MSN), and a Doctorate of Nursing Practice (DNP).
- Applications: Candidates should initially provide a letter of application, a current curriculum vitae, and names and addresses of three references.
- Send to: Dr. Gail P. Poirrier, Dean and Professor
College of Nursing and Allied Health Professions
P. O. Box 43810
Lafayette, LA 70504
(337) 482-5649 (fax)

A screening committee will begin reviewing applications as they arrive and will continue until the position is filled.

EEO#: NR 7-11

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

A Member of the University of Louisiana System