ACADEMIC VACANCY

POSITION: Biology Instructor

EEO #: SC 1-02

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful applicant will take part in departmental course instruction. Teaching assignments will involve a variety of introductory biology courses for majors and non-majors and specialized non-majors courses in animal science and animal nutrition. Additional duties include coordination of departmental teaching assistants and managing classroom audio-visual systems. We are seeking candidates with a robust academic record, who will be effective educators, serve as a mentor to students, work with colleagues in a collaborative fashion to improve research and instruction and demonstrate institutional citizenship through active engagement at the department, college, university, community, and professional levels. The candidate should demonstrate ongoing intellectual competence and professional development.

QUALIFICATIONS:

The applicant must have, at a minimum, a MS in Biology or a related field. Successful candidates will have experience teaching introductory biology, animal science, animal nutrition or similar courses.

Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working effectively with diverse student populations. Applicants are to describe their dedication to fostering a diverse educational environment through their research, teaching, and/or service activities.
